

Cassidy Marn

Cassidy grew up on a wheat/barley/cattle operation in North Central Montana. She takes great pride in export development and promoting the high quality of Montana grain. For over 12 years working for the Montana Wheat and Barley Committee, supporting research and varietal development to provide both producers and end users with the quality they need is her favorite part of the job.

Cassidy lives on Belt Creek with her husband, Jeff, and 2 children, Jett and Presley.
