

Sandro Gadilia is an Account Executive with 4 years of experience in International Logistics. He holds a bachelor's degree in business management from University of North Florida.

Throughout his career, he has demonstrated a strong commitment to developing and maintaining business partners for IFT, which has led to tremendous growth of our business network. He is known for his discipline and has a proven track record of dedication to IFT and our partners.

In business development, he is responsible for generating leads, acquiring new business partners, maintaining / growing relationships, and has successfully brought in many long-term partners. Prior to business development, he worked at ANSL where he was responsible for marketing and achieved highest level of community engagement and sponsor involvement.

Outside of work, he enjoys soccer, skiing and is actively involved in local semi-pro leagues. He is committed to being involved and strives to make a positive impact in his community.